

Circ.: m. 63,678

S. 97,831

Front Edit Other
Page Page Page

Date:

Criticism Aimed At CIA

That super-secret American governmental group called the Central Intelligence Agency and headed by Allen W. Dulles is taking quite a beating as the result of the Cuban affair last week.

The CIA appears to have misjudged completely the situation in Cuba.

This opinion is widely held at home and abroad.

The conservative London Times said that "President Kennedy seems to have been the victim of bad intelligence advice," and expressed the opinion that a severely critical look should be taken at the powers and organization of the Central Intelligence Agency.